Global Stock Market:

The stock market's rally has slowed as investors await the Federal Reserve Chair's perspective at the Jackson Hole conference.

The minutes from the July FOMC meeting had bolstered market confidence in a potential rate cut by the Fed in September. However, the rally has stalled as bond yields rise, and investors await new guidance from the Fed Chair. The stock market maintained its upward trend for the week, while commodities and the DXY declined.

- U.S. stocks increased by an average of 0.5%, EU600 +2.1%, Nikkei 225 +0.9%, and CSI 300 -0.5%.

- The commodities index fell by 0.8%, mainly due to declines in oil (-2.9%), gas (-3.9%), and gold (-0.6%).

- The DXY index dropped by 0.9%, and U.S. 10-year Treasuries decreased slightly by -0.03%.

The July FOMC meeting minutes revealed that most members expected data to continue as anticipated, making a policy easing in the next meeting appropriate. Officials are confident that inflation is sustainably moving toward the 2% target, though some concerns remain about the labor market. The minutes indicated that the Fed signaled a possible rate cut in September. This perspective will be reinforced by the Fed Chair's speech at Jackson Hole over the weekend.

Key data to watch for the upcoming week includes the U.S. consumer confidence index, second-quarter GDP revision, and unemployment claims; Japan's CPI; China's PMI; and CPI. unemployment rate in the EU. and Vietnam's macroeconomic data.

Vietnam Stock Market:

The VN-Index is approaching the peak level for 2024.

The upward trend continues, with the VN-Index recording its second consecutive week of gains, rising by 2.6%, and liquidity increasing by 21% compared to the previous week.

- Bank stocks contributed 55% of the market's overall increase, helping the VN-Index break through the 1,260-point resistance level and reinforcing the short-term recovery trend.

- The market advanced broadly with all 18 sectors showing gains. The personal goods, financial services, and retail sectors each increased by over 6%.

- Foreign investors were net sellers of $25 million, compared to a net purchase of $45 million the previous week.

The market is returning to its yearly peak. Investors might accelerate trading activities, consider partial profit-taking, and buy back shares during market fluctuations.

Following the Fed's signals regarding potential rate cuts, the DXY has decreased by nearly 5% over the past two months. Previously, exchange rates were a challenge for central banks, including Vietnam. The DXY's decline is providing the State Bank of Vietnam (SBV) with more policy space to lower OMO and treasury bill interest rates to support credit growth. The persistent drop in the black-market USD exchange rate, coupled with an increase in the bank USD rate, indicates that commercial banks might be increasing their USD purchases. The SBV also has an opportunity to rebuild its foreign exchange reserves after intervening in the second quarter to stabilize the exchange rate.

WEEKLY TOPIC: FTSE Vietnam Index and MarketVector Vietnam Local Index Portfolio Forecast for Q3/2024

On September 6, 2024, FTSE is expected to announce the constituent stocks of the FTSE Vietnam All-Share Index and the FTSE Vietnam Index. On September 13, 2024, MarketVector will announce the constituents of the MarketVector Vietnam Local Index.

The complete restructuring of the portfolios for ETFs tracking these indices is anticipated to be finalized by September 20, 2024. The official data cutoff date for the two indices is August 30, 2024.

BSC forecasts the following changes to the constituent stocks and the quantity of shares bought/sold for ETFs tracking these indices:

1. FTSE Vietnam Index (ETF FTSE Reference)

- The FTSE Vietnam Index is expected to add FRT and FTS, while no stocks are anticipated to be removed. Values may vary due to data application date, free-float ratio, and investment weighting.

2. MarketVector Vietnam Local Index (VanEck Vectors Vietnam ETF Reference)

- The MarketVector Vietnam Local Index is expected to remove HNG and add NAB, FRRT, and MBS, as they are in the top 85% of free-float market capitalization among qualifying stocks. Values may vary due to data application date, free-float ratio, and investment weighting.

N.B. : The data used by BSC for forecasting is from August 22, 2024, so values may be subject to change.

Comments:

- In week 34, the SBV issued bills worth 21,999.7 billion VND, and simultaneously bought securities worth 38,447.7 billion VND. In total, the SBV's net flow on OMOs was 1,271.6 billion VND
- Interbank interest rates remained unchanged for the week.

TECHNICAL ANALYSIS: VN-Index is approaching the year's peak range at 1,295 – 1,302 points

Daily Chart Analysis: Continuing the bullish candlestick trend from the previous week, the VN-Index has formed an additional candlestick with a gap and surpassed the 1,260-point mark, returning to a short-term uptrend. The two doji candlesticks from the weekend indicate that the uptrend is slowing down near the year's peak range of 1,295 – 1,302 points. Technical indicators have improved, with no signs of divergence appearing.

Key daily chart features:

- RSI increased from 54 to 63.
- MACD remains above the signal line and has exceeded 0. Liquidity rose by 21% compared to the average trading volume of the previous week.
- VN-Index is above the SMA 20, 50, 100, and 200.

Conclusion: The VN-Index did not decline to form an inverted Head and Shoulder pattern as mentioned last week but has added another bullish session with a gap for a V pattern. The index is forming a temporary consolidation zone before testing the psychological level of 1,300 points. Profit-taking pressure is likely to increase, and there may be further sharp fluctuations as the Bollinger Bands are expanding. The momentum for breaking the peak is still unclear, and the market requires additional signals to assess the potential for surpassing the peak in the coming week.

The BSC50 portfolio includes 50 companies selected based on liquidity criteria among the 100 best liquid stocks on all three exchanges. These stocks have a higher beta than BSC30, but are still among the top companies in Banking, Securities, Insurance, Construction, Real Estate, Materials, Logistics, O&G, F&B, Retail, Industrial Production, and Utilities (Electricity, Water), etc. BSC 50 is evaluated quarterly by BSC experts to ensure that the stocks still meet the given criteria. The BSC50 listing is suitable for bull market periods and has potential for investors looking for short-term trading opportunities.
