MARKET COMMENTARY

The market today has received great support derived from the strong buying of foreign investors in the context of low liquidity. Because the ETFs performance are now quite positive, it is likely that foreign investors will maintain their net buying in the next few days and therefore effect positively on the market. However, the VN-Index is now quite close to its 600 pts strong resistance, the market advancing momentum can slow down gradually, but a strong correction is believed hard to happen unless the foreign investors suddenly stopped their buying.

RECOMMENDATION

Consider taking profit stocks which have strong rallies, while still able to continue holding stocks not increased much.

MARKET PERFORMANCE

Banking stocks continued to lead Vietnam market in the first trading session of year 2015. Notably, VCB closed at ceiling price (VND39,000 / share). Similarly, CTG and BID also gained 4.5% and 4%, respectively.

JVC traded in its floor price at the beginning of today's session because more than 50 million additional listed shares were traded today. As we have seen, JVC has increased more than 30% in Jan 2015, hence profit-taking pressure will be great when supply dramatically increases.

Speculative stocks were not really strong as many representatives as FLC, KLF, VHJ or SCR remained unchanged. Only OGC and PVX opened in ceiling prices.

Foreign investors remained net buyers on both exchanges, especially on HSX (worth VND120 billion). Banking stocks (VCB, BID, CTG), real estate stocks (VIC, ITA, HAG) and HPG were continually bought strongly.

FOREIGN-INVESTOR PERFORMANCE

Foreign investors were net buyers on both HSX and HNX with values of, respectively, VND120.5 billion and VND6.5 billion.

Specifically, on HSX, foreigners bought strongly MWG (VND36.9 billion), VIC (VND19.3 billion) and VHC (VND13 billion) while selling mainly KDC (VND12.2 billion) and PVD (VND6.2 billion).

On HNX, they bought significantly SHB (VND2 billion), VCG (VND1.7 billion) and PLC (VND1.4 billion). On the selling side, they sold mostly PVS (VND523 million).

MACRO ECONOMY

CPI decreased by 0.05% mom in February that is contrary to annual trend due to the reduction of oil price since the second half of 2014. Recently, gasoline prices showed signs of slight recovery in the second half of February, however, the domestic gasoline prices keep unchanged.

Review of the BSC:

Gasoline prices dropped in recent months not only made transport goods fell sharply, but also indirectly reduce other products prices. Consequently, the national CPI growth was slightly negative in February due to the price kept stable consumer despite demand increasing in the Lunar New Year, as well as the decline of the transport group (-4.41%). We are not too worried about the possibility of CPI fell in the early months of 2015 which could lead to deflation. That only confirms that CPI continued to be controlled at a low level in 2015, creating appropriate conditions for lowering interest rates in the near future.

Retail gasoline prices were unchanged despite the recent slight recovery of world oil prices thank to the corporation of the two Ministries (Industry and Finance) which did adjust the oil price stabilization fund. That fund is now used to offset the gap between domestic and international prices. However, if world oil prices rise in the near future, domestic retail gasoline prices probably bounce back.

TECHNICAL ANALYSIS

The green candle ended the first session of the lunar new year, brought the market to overcome the upper of the Bollinger Band, closer to the level of 600, surpassing successfully the level 590 resistance levels, but the low liquidity, the volume equivalent to only 0.85 times the previous session.

Evolution rally maintained from the open of the session, the VN-Index remained above the resistance level of 590 during the morning session, and formed a rally in the afternoon session, the market continues to take over the level of 595 and closer to the level 600, closing market reached 596.95, an increase of 9.71 points.

The RSI (15) closer to the line 70, reaching 67.3 points, the momentum continues. The MFI (14) indicator turned off the line 60, touching 68 points. The MACD line is above the zero and followed by its slow signal indicator, a buy signal is maintained.

An increase in the Lunar New Year's session but no increase liquidity increased to, given the market access difficulties resistance at 600, 595 is the level of temporary support for the market. In the next session, there is a need to improve the liquidity of the market is still possible to adjust the support around the lower region 590.
