Market outlook

VN-Index increased slightly in the morning due to the purchasing power concentrated in banking and blue chips stocks such as CTG, BID, HDB, VNM and VHM. In the afternoon session, the index reversed and dropped in comparison with the morning session because the selling increased strongly on TCB, VCB and BVH and VHM reversal. Foreign investors net bought and liquidity decreased slightly compared to yesterday. In BSC's view, the cautious sentiment was still leading the market when there was no positive macro information to create momentum for the market to increase prices. VN Index will still fluctuate in the range 900 - 910 points. Investors should trade cautiously in stocks with high liquidity.
