Market outlook

Stock market: VNIndex rose sharply from the beginning of morning session thanks to Banking sector; however, increased selling pressure at an area of 930 made gaining momentum narrowed. The investment cash flows decreased as 4 out of 19 sectors gained, in which both Banking, and Insurance sectors led the market with the most significant increases. In addition, foreign investors' trade continued to be a net seller on HSX. The market liquidity was at a stable level and the market breadth was negative, showing that the investor sentiment became more cautious on the market outlook. VNIndex might have slow upward movement, approaching 930 points in coming sessions.

Future contracts: All future contracts increased following VN30. Investors might consider selling with target price around 860 points for long-term contracts.

Technical Analysis

BWE_Short-term accumulation

Technical highlights:

- Current trend: Short-terrm consolidation.
- MACD indicator: Positive divergence, MACD below signal line.
- RSI indicator: Neutral zone, recovered from the lower Bollinger channel.

Outlook: BWE is in a short-term consolidate trend in the 25-26 price range. The stock liquidity was above the 20-day average level, but the selling force and buyign force were quite balanced during the session. The MACD has not shown any sign of rebound while the RSI is supporting the short-term recovery trend. The stock price line is moving around the Ichimoku cloud, showing that the mid-term uptrend has not formed. Thus, mid-term and long-term investors can open a position at around 25.0-26.0 and consider taking profit when the stock approaches 29.0, cut loss if it loses the short-term support at 25.0.
